POETRY.

Poems from the "Bijou Almanac, for 1836."—By L. E. L.

"Schiller."

"Oh, many are the lovely shapes
That glide along thy lovelier line,
And glorious is the breathing life,
That warms that burning page of thine.

But never yet a form more fair
Amid the poet's visions moved,
Than Thelma, thy sweet fancy's child,
The German maid who 'lived and loved.'

For her sad sake shall woman's tears
Bedew thy low sepulchral cell,
And say—thrice blessed be the sleep
Of him who knew our hearts so well.

"Byron."

"Thy lute upon the Grecian ground Lies broken: let it lie;
'Twas worthy such a funeral mound,
'Twas worthy of such sky.

Beside thy old Castilian groves
It breathed its noblest words;
The pine woods and the ancient hills
Attend its dying chords.

All nature owned its bitter spell,
And answered to the tone;
For in the sorrow of the strain
Each heart recall'd its own.

LADIES LONDON AND PARISIAN FASHIONS.

The last ball at the Tuileries was most brilliant.—The number of persons invited amounted to four thousand and five hundred, and the majority appeared in fancy dresses. Hungarian, Highland, and Greek costumes were very numerous, and were greatly admired. The splendid uniforms and decorations worn by the gentlemen, and the profusion of diamonds worn by the ladies, rendered the coup d'œil one of the most magnificent that can be conceived. At twelve o'clock supper was announced, the first service being laid for the Royal Family and about five hundred ladies; other services were afterwards prepared successively for the rest of the company.

The young Princesses wore robes of white tulle, the one ornamented with flowers, and the other with ribbons. Both wore their hair dressed with bouquets of flowers.

The simplicity of the dress of the Countess d'O*** excited great admiration. The robe was composed of dentelle de soie without any trimming; and her coiffure was of a bandeau of diamonds, placed across the forehead. These diamonds were superb; all large and equal in size.

A robe of rich crimson velvet was ornamented upon the front of the jupon with two double rolls of pearls, which were so arranged as to have the effect of lacing together the two sides of the robe en tablier. The lacings crossed each other, and widened gradually from the waist to a little distance below the knee, where the rows of pearls were terminated by a superb tassel.—The sleeves of this dress were formed of three sabots of tulle, over which descended a drapery of velvet, forming a continuation of the folds of the corsage.

A foreign lady of high rank wore a dress of white velours d'Ispahan, trimmed with a deep lace flounce, which was fastened up in festoons at equal distances by agrafes set with precious stones of various colors. The sleeves were short, and very small, but over them were worn wide lace sleeves, a la Venetienne, fastened on the shoulders by agrafes of colored stones. The corsage was draped. The coiffure worn with this dress was a turban a la Juive, formed of very light blonde gauze, and in the centre of the forehead was a superb ornament, composed of jewels of every hue.

Many ladies wore ceintures of satin, the flowing ends of which were as broad as scarfs. When the corsage is pointed in front, the waist is frequently terminated merely by a piping. Cords and tassels are no longer seen, and waistbands and buckles are solely confined to negligé.

Gloves are worn very short. The elbow is always left uncovered. Indeed, the fashionable gloves are merely quantelets, having the tops invariably trimmed with riband, forming a circle of rosettes, terminated by long flowing ends.

Sleeves.—Short sleeves are made in the first instance nearly tight to the arm; then over these tight sleeves are placed two or three sabots. These may be either of the same material as the dress, or white tulle. The latter is exceedingly fashionable; and certainly nothing imparts such grace and lightness to a colored dress as white sleeves. Some sleeves are made in the following manner:—One large bouffant of velvet or satin, and under it a second bouffant of blonde or tulle, terminated by a full ruffle. At other times, the sleeve has under the first bouffant merely a continuation of the tight sleeve, upon which are placed two ruches of tulle, descending nearly to the elbow. Over long white sleeves there is usually a small drapery of the same material as the dress, forming jockeys. Long sleeves of tulle are sometimes made open, and fastened up with bows of riband. It is by no means indispensable that the sleeves should be of the same material as the dress. With a dress of colored satin or velvet, the sleeves are often formed entirely of coques of white satin riband. For this purpose, no less than 20 yards of riband are employed. We have seen this fantasie reversed, and the sleeves of a white crêpe dress, composed of coques of pink satin riband. The ceinture consisted of a broad pink satin riband, fringed at the ends.

An adaptation of "Don Juan of Austria" is about to be produced at Covent Garden, the principal part having been accepted by Mr Kemble. The catastrophe has been completely altered from the very feeble denouement of Casimir Delavigne's piece. The fine part of Donna Florinda will probably be assigned to Miss H. Faucit.—Court Journal.

Benjamin Thompson, of the Concord N. H. Botanic Infirmary, having indirectly claimed the merit of inventing the Thomsonian System of practice, we have been requested to publish the following in justice to the real originator of it:—

Cambridge Dec. 8th, 1835.

To SAMUEL THOMPSON,

Botanic Practitioner of Medicine.
Dear Sir,—To the questions put to me yesterday I answer, that I remain firm in the opinion that you were the discoverer of the remarkable medicinal virtues in the Lobelia inflata, as a safe emetic, and other rare qualities effectually deterring the stomach and intestines of foul and morbid matter, a prime object in the removal of all disorders consequent of imperfect digestion—the fruitful source of almost all our chronic Disorders. The efficacy, and safety of this vegetable, I have had ample and repeated proofs of, in a number of cases, and in my own person, and have reason to value it equal to any article in our Materia Medica.

Your joining to the emetic effects of Lobelia, the Vapor-Bath is, in my opinion, a happy practice, if conducted with requisite care and caution, but not to be trusted to any that are not duly instructed in the danger attendant upon a careless and harsh use of a warm bath without every convenience and accommodation in such seasons as the present.

That you yourself was the originator of this compound process, very extensively known under the title of the Thomsonian Practice, or system, I have no doubt whatever. I mean the uniting the warm bath, with the thorough elimination of the whole alimentary canal. I value it, and recommend it on this account.—It effects in three or four days, what we regular Physicians use to occupy as my weeks. As a public teacher of the Practice of physic, I have told Mr Phipps for nearly half a century past, that when they have learned to restore the long impaired organs of digestion to their pristine or natural state, they have acquired two thirds of their profession; and on that simple principle is based the whole doctrine of my printed Lecture on the pernicious effects of smoking cigars, and the inordinate use of ardent spirits.

Furthermore. The regular physician finds it necessary sometimes to make a great change in the human frame, or to make a very strong counter irritation, so as to obliterate the morbid or destructive one. This used to be done by quicksilver, that is, mercury in its various preparations; when pushed to a salvation it dilapidates, if we may speak so,—or dissolves the human fluids, all of which are made up of globules, or round particles, on the crasis of which depends the vital integrity of our bodies, and of course, our health and vigor. After the hazardous process of salivation, the physician may, perhaps, be able to say—now I have so far changed the morbid state of the patient, that his disease is conquered, and entirely overcome by the powerful operation of the mercury. But then in what condition does he find the sufferer?—His teeth are loosened, his joints are weakened, his healthy countenance is impaired, his voice is more feeble, and he is more susceptible of cold, and a damp state of the weather. His original disorder is heavily overdone, and is paying a great price for it. Secret history conceals from the public notice innumerable victims of this sort.

Now, my sagacious, industrious, and much respected EMPERIC, or ECLECTIC, if you like the latter term better; let us come to the point you seem to aim at, namely; my opinion on the whole.

I consider a man labouring under a chronic disease of some time standing, where there is no local affection, that if laid bare, would be visible to the eye and touch.—I say—I consider such a patient, who has passed through one, two, or three, (as the case may be) of your processes of the Lobelia emetic, and thoroughly rinsed out intestines, to be as much altered as the man who has gone through the very disagreeable, and dangerous operation of a mercurial salivation; and if so, your discovery is highly valuable, and on this account it was that I spoke freely and strongly in commendation of your new practice, and was not afraid nor ashamed to hail you as a REFORMER, and to give you the full credit, and in this view, I have always considered you as standing on higher ground than Paracelsus, who was born in 1493.

I have not a word to say about Agents. I know nothing about rights and privileges by purchase, I stood aloof from all such matters, when 36 years ago, I had vaccination in my own hands. I told all I knew, and kept nothing back from the public—not even some of my own errors—and what was my reward?

As to the point of your originality, I will sum it up in as few words as I possibly can—I regard you as the TREE, the root and trunk of the Lobelia and vapor bath system conjoined; and its limbs your immediate agents, and its leaves and fruit, the purchasers of the rights and privileges—all deriving their value from the Tree of knowledge which you happily planted and nourished for the benefit of the afflicted; and having said this, I have performed a grateful office, and I may add duty to all around me, and remain, and hope ever to remain

Your steady friend,
BENJAMIN WATERHOUSE.

MR. JOHN WILLIAMS, THE OCULIST.

To the Editor of the Boston Morning Post:

Sir—From an examination of Mr Arnold's eye, after he had been under the care of the oculist, late of Bromfield street, [I say late, because I believe he has been turned out of the Bromfield Chapel, and know he has been hissed away from the public table of the Bromfield House.] I felt assured he was as blind of one eye as he represented himself to be. Judge then of my astonishment at the cool assertion of Mr Williams in your paper, that the man was cured! Though it reminded me of a surgeon I once heard insisting that he did not hurt a patient who was roaring with pain, still I was not prepared for such an outrageous violation of truth by one who had just been making a humble, but unsuccessful, effort for admission to a church—I requested the physician who treated Mr Arnold to let me know the truth; you have here his answer. There was another case which seemed to be much in Williams's favor, and which he blazoned abroad; I requested him to look into that also. It proved that the certificate had been given by an honest, but not overlearned, man of color—a wood-sawyer, who cannot read or write.

You will see, too, that a clue is found to Mr Williams's history, and to the manner in which he obtained a surgeon's recipe for one disease of the eyes, which he goes about pouring into every eye, be the disease what it may.

S. G. H.

Boston, 21st March, 1836.
Dear Sir—In my letter of the 29th ultimo, I gave an account of the injurious effects produced upon Mrs Patten's eyes by the remedies of Mr Williams, "oculist for four sovereigns;" and if their royal majesties' liege subjects were as scurvily used by this itinerant vender of nostrums, as was the patient referred to, it will cease to excite our special wonder that he has found it convenient to quit their realms, and favor a new world with his gracious presence.

But badinage apart, I wish to state that Fowler's case (of which a pompous statement, with a certificate, were published by Williams) proves to be, as was expected, simply a case of chronic ophthalmia, of the cure of which, any respectable physician would be ashamed to make a boast. In fact, the case was one of a kind that usually falls into the hands of old women, and was such as might have been speedily cured by the application of many domestic remedies.

The case of S. V. Arnold, of Braintree, which was detailed under the sanction of the patient himself, in the Morning Post of the 18th inst. Mr Williams has the bare faced effrontery to assert was one of the cases cured by his remedies; Mr Arnold's plain statement to the contrary notwithstanding. As if a man arrived at years of discretion and in the full possession of all his mental faculties, was less competent than an interested imbecile to judge of the state of his own eye sight! When I say, from personal examination, that the complaint for the relief of which Mr Arnold made application is Glaucoma, (a disease of the internal texture of the eye,) no medical man will doubt for a moment the absurdity and even wickedness of attempting the cure of such a disease by a stimulating nature, as they were in this instance, have been observed invariably to aggravate the complaint. And thus the precious moments which ought to be employed in active treatment are worse than lost, and vision is irretrievably ruined.

Of the same outrageous and empirical character, is the many repeated attempts of this man to restore the sight in cases of confirmed Amaurosis, or Gutta Serena, by the application to the eye itself, of his trash, under the name of eye-waters.

A marked instance of this description has the past week fallen under my observation. A young lady, in the town of Franklin, reduced by the death of her father to earn her livelihood by her own unassisted exertions, was attacked with complete Amaurosis of the right eye. Deceived by the specious accounts of the success of Mr Williams, she hastened to put herself under his care, and received from him encouragement to believe that vision would be restored by the use of his dirty washes. The result of the experiment, I need hardly say, was a total failure—not the slightest benefit having been received. The chagrin and disappointment, added to exposure in a feeble state of health, during an inclement season, have, however, brought on a serious illness, from the effects of which she will not soon recover.

The Mercantile Journal of Friday evening last, appended a brief statement of the insolent behaviour of this self-styled Oculist, towards the meritorious but unfortunate poor, who were deluded into applying to him for relief from blindness. Does Mr Williams for a moment suppose that a freeborn American citizen, however reduced by misfortune or honest poverty, may with impunity be trampled under foot, his misfortune derided or mocked at, and his feelings grossly outraged, under the shallow pretence of philanthropy and charity? Will an intelligent and high minded community be much longer deceived by the vile insinuations and outrageous exactions of a foreign mendicant?

If then he expects to escape the just indignation of those whom he has defrauded and injured, let him return to his original insignificance in the parlous of London; and learn in future that when the unfortunate poor of New England stand in need of medical aid, they are able to call upon those who have attended in the Hospitals and Infirmarys of Europe, as pupils and students, and not in the capacity of a menial and errand boy.

Respectfully your ob't. servant,

EDWARD J. DAVENPORT.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.—The subscriber having completed a purchase of the exclusive right of the Improved Premium or Conical, takes this method to caution all persons from infringing upon his right. The stove to which he alludes is probably best known by the name of the Conical Stove, and has his name on the front. This stove was introduced into market in its present shape in the Spring of 1835, and about 1500 to 2000 sold. They have generally given great satisfaction, and the subscriber has made such arrangements as will enable him to supply the market the coming season. And as he has been informed that there are persons in the vicinity of Boston, who have already commenced manufacturing them, and others are preparing to make the said stove, he deems it his duty to inform such persons, and the public generally, that prompt measures will be taken to prosecute all such infringements. He also intends having an agency in Boston, where the public can be supplied with said Conical Stove on liberal terms, at wholesale and retail.

STENOGRAPHIC GLIMPSES OF CONGRESS.

Washington, March 18, 1836.

Senate.—What a terrible retribution is visiting the Senatorial faction of 1834! If any of them have been in the habit of repeating the responses of the Liturgy, how often must they mentally ejaculate, "Spare us, good Lord!" Only two short years—and what a change! What a tremendous reaction in public opinion against this audacious faction! Then, they arraigned, impeached, and condemned the Chief Magistrate of the nation, without trial or hearing. Now, they are themselves undergoing a trial by their peers, for this high-handed and atrocious violation of the constitution.

"This even-handed justice
Commends the ingredients of our poisoned chalice
To our own lips."

To-day Col. Benton called up his EXPUNGING Resolutions, and supported them in a speech of three and a half hours, which is only half finished. It was one of his grandest efforts—it was appalling! He stamped the infamy of the faction in characters no human hand can expunge—and all who run may read. In the envy of Hannan they may find their history, and their retribution in his fate. They have erected a gallows for one whom the people delight to honor, but to swing from it themselves.

"Men that make
Envy, and crooked malice, nourishment, Dare bite the best!"

But their victim bears a charmed life against their venom. The Providence of God protects him against the assassin's pistol; and the affections of the people against the malice of demagogues. He is

"Advanced above pale envy's threatening reach."

For the labors of this day, Col. Benton will reap a rich reward; and the people, who will reward him, will know how to reward the base maligners of the chief magistrate of their choice.

House.—They passed the day in debating the unsigned pension act for Bush and Arnold.

REIS EFFENDI.

Who is to be the head of the Ten Million Bank?

Our readers will remember a certain great man, we do not speak figuratively, who was driven from Portsmouth, on account of his management of money affairs there—they will remember that this same great man's legal opinions concerning the conduct of some of our City Banks, was quoted or referred to by a certain ardent member of the Bank Committee—they will remember that a certain Boston concern, through the influence of this great man, formerly, in pinching times, obtained all the money of a certain Bank in Portsmouth, to the exclusion of all the good people of said town. Well, when they remember all these things, will they not fear that what has been, may be again? Suppose, and you would probably suppose no more than the fact, that the arrangement is already made to put this New Hampshire cast off at the head of the Monster, on a salary of five thousand dollars a year, would he not make a monstrous head? Would not the maw of a certain great house swallow all the cash that the Ten Million Bank could scrape together? Would not Liberty Square, and its appendages, root out all the other interests, grocers, hardware men, and sundry dealers, leather dealers, importers, and around you—see what is going on, and then you may come to the conclusion of the American minister in France, that "Bonaparte wants money and must have it." Aye, there's the rub, but shall Bonaparte supply his wants from us? That is the question. And above all, shall he be permitted to pirate on our commerce, and demolish our Banks to satiate his wants?

The numby-pamby milk-sop of the Galaxy talks of a "ridiculous position"—he can speak experimentally upon the subject, for it is his natural attitude. He says he "don't play with nameless babies"—it is rather cruel for him to cut the nursery direct before he is free from those obstructions to locomotion which infantile unconsciousness render necessary for the protection of the mother's lap. The truth is that the little fellow has been suffered to go into the street too soon—he is too precocious to be trusted alone—he is safe enough while playing with the door-handles of the Tremont Theatre, when tied to his seat, or looking at the horses at the Lion—the pretty scenery of the Warren, or counting the monkeys in the menagerie; but when he attempts to gallop his stick horse through Washington street, he is altogether too daring for his age—To be serious, the juvenile editor of the Galaxy is so transported with his importance upon finding himself the master-spirit of a weekly paper, that he appears to think the fate of the universe hangs upon his pen. His sudden access to places of public amusement has bewildered him, and he mingles horses, dancers, comedians, tragedians, singers and wild animals in endless confusion, and talks about them as though all the rest of the world, like himself, never saw such things before the present season. He swells at a Somerset—looks mysterious at a drop scene, and nearly bursts at a pirouette; the vast consequence he assumes in pronouncing his opinion upon these stage subjects, reminds one of "a tadpole wriggling his bum, astonished at the vastness of his own conceptions."

Another Whig Victory reversed.—The Whigs have been boasting that Gov. Lucas had become converted to their cause, but very unfortunately for them, the report turns out to be untrue. The St. Clairsville Gazette furnishes a history of the rise and downfall of the story, which shows how extremely easy it is for the whigs to be deceived. The facts are briefly these—The Governor was invited to meet, at the room of one of the delegates to the State Convention then in Session, a "few of his old neighbors and personal friends." He accepted the invitation, and was unexpectedly shown into a room full of genuine whigs, one of whom toasted him as "the Governor of the State and not of a party"—The Governor replied to the effect that it had been his desire to promote her best interests, &c., and took his hat and walked off. So far from being converted to whiggism, by this whig trick, he is to this day, says the Gazette, "as warm and decided a friend of the Baltimore nominations, as there is in the State of Ohio."

The Silk Business appears to be taking root every where, they are planting mulberry trees in all the villages and near.

Later from Florida.—The Washington papers of Saturday contain later dates from Florida. Gen. Clinch, with 800 men, joined Gen. Gaines, on the Withlacoochee, on the 4th instant, and the latter, with his whole force, about 1800 men, intended to cross the river and attack the Indians the next day—having boats and rafts in readiness, and six twelve pounders to cover the landing of his men on the opposite shore. The Indians had encamped about four miles from the river, protected by a breastwork of dirt. The discharge of cannon was distinctly heard at Fort Drane on the 5th. It was supposed that Gen. Gaines' arrangements were such as to render the defeat of the Indians and their dispersion, almost a matter of certainty. It is added that General Clinch probably marched with his reinforcement under orders from General Scott.

There has been no refusal on the part of Gen. Scott to assist Gen. Gaines, and there is not the least foundation for the report of a personal difficulty between them.

The force of the Indians was estimated by General Gaines to be between two and three thousand.

The Jacksonville Courier, of the 10th ult. states that Gen. Gaines' loss was 8, and about 40 wounded—the Indian loss, several hundred.

From Texas.—Information from Victoria, a port in Texas, to the 8th of February, has been received in New York. Gen. Houston had arrived at that place, on his way to San Felipe, some difficulty having taken place between Gen. Smith and the Provisional Government. The troops were concentrating at Copeno, to move 1st March.

Santa Anna had determined not to command, in person, the expedition against Texas.

An insurrection of two of his generals had caused a division of his forces, and it was thought there would be no fighting till late in the summer.

The New York volunteers who were carried prisoners to Nassau, were on their way to join the Texian army—some of the New Orleans volunteers had returned in disgust.

Mr. Rantoul delivered a powerful and conclusive speech yesterday in the House of Representatives in favor of the indefinite postponement of the Bill chartering the Ten Million Bank. The arguments he advanced in support of his motion for postponement were irrefutable, and must have carried conviction to every unprejudiced and honest mind, of the great danger of establishing such an Institution, and of the absence of all necessity for its existence. The committee upon Banks and Banking have neglected to report upon any of the petitions from Boston for small Banks, in the hopes of thereby favoring the Mammoth—but the people begin to see the true features of the Ten Million Hercules, and will hold their Representatives to a strict accountability for their conduct.

Mr. Gilbert, a Bostonian, and one of the best actors upon the Tremont Boards, will take a benefit at that theatre this evening. The rapid advancement this gentleman has made in public favor during the present season, is manifested by the hearty applause bestowed upon him whenever he appears upon the stage. We have been rejoiced to witness this deserved appreciation of his talents and exertions; it is an assurance that he has but to continue as he has commenced to win the highest favor of the community, and the richest rewards his profession is capable of yielding. His bill presents a most attractive fare, and if they would cherish unobtrusive feelings of liberal respect for private virtues of the most refined and elevated character, they will fill the Tremont Theatre to-night.

Business is commencing with great activity in all our large cities. The last Baltimore papers say—"Never, perhaps, before, has there been, at so early a period in the season, in any year, so much business done in our city, as there has been during the present spring." The Delaware is open, and the Philadelphians are all bustle—every body looks smiling and happy, the Pennsylvania informs us. The New Yorkers are busy as bees rebuilding their hive, and say that two seasons' profits will make them as rich as ever again. Boston is wide awake and intends to be in the rear of none of her sisters.

We have received a note from the Boston Editor of the American Monthly Magazine, in which he says that the charge of plagiarism against a paper called "A Queen's Farewell" is very absurdly made; first, because, had the Editor of the New York Herald looked at the first page of the Magazine he would have seen that Mr. Hoffman and not Mr. Herbert is the New York Editor. The article is, as it professes to be, simply "a sketch from French History," and is not from the pen of Mr. Herbert, but the production of a young lady.

The Girard Bank Bill has passed both houses of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, by the majority requisite to make it a law, notwithstanding the veto of the Governor. The limited partnership bill has also passed, and only wants the Governor's signature.

We have received a communication from Worcester, giving an account of a nose-pulling fracas between two lawyers at the late session of the Court of Common Pleas there, but as the assertions it contains are not satisfactorily authenticated, we shall decline giving the particulars.

The wharf laborers in Salem, "turned out" on Monday for higher wages. They have heretofore received a dollar and thirty-three cents a day, and now demand a dollar and a half. No work was done at the wharves on Monday by any of the customary laborers.

Major Noah is mighty anxious to get hold of some of the surplus revenue of the government—having clapped $15,000 of Nick Biddle's in one pocket he wants $15,000 of Uncle Sam's for the other side of his breeches to balance it.

"The main topsail of the Ship Pennsylvania, now at the Navy Yard, it is said, will take 1335 yards of canvas."—Atlas.

Yet all this canvass wouldn't make a bag large enough to hold the falsehoods uttered by the Atlas every year.

Congress.—Mr. Webster, on Friday, obtained leave of absence for ten days. The Senate was not in session on Saturday; in the House no business of importance was transacted.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Thomas Rowan, for voting twice in Ward No. 3, at the last election of Mayor, has been quashed by the government.

Coal.—There was imported into Boston of foreign coal, in the year 1833, 479,390 bushels; in 1834, 720,850 bushels, and in 1835, 563,100 bushels.

An attempt was made to set fire to the American Bible House, 115 Nassau street, New York, on Saturday. The incendiary had previously robbed the premises of $20.

POLICE COURT.

Examination for Homicide concluded.—Additional witnesses against Riley and O'Neil were examined yesterday, but not one who was present at the origin of the fatal affray. Thus much only is certain—there was a fight—Riley was seen to stab Lowell, and when arrested freely admitted that he had done so, but only in self-defence. The testimony of the two first witnesses is thus contradictory:—

1. Isaac Wentworth—a lad—was in company with George Lowell—he came for me to go down to the market with him—we went together—we left the market steps to go towards Merchants' Row—at the corner of Merchants' Row and Clinton street, I saw a quarrel—a boy was kicking an Irishman—Lowell left me, to go to the quarrel—I saw him strike an Irishman—then some one ran up—then I went to go across the street, and as I turned round I saw Lowell at another Irishman, and the one he struck first holla'd "watch!" Lowell, when he left me, ran up to assist the boys who were quarrelling with the Irishman. When I turned the street he had another Irishman by the hair. As soon as I got across the street, I heard the people cry out, "stop him!"—then they fetched the Irishman back, &c. The witness had heard Lowell say he hated Irishmen.

2. Benjamin Lord Murphy—saw two Irishmen walking along, taking up the side-walk—saw Lowell right behind them—he attempted to pass by them, and shoved against them, by design or accident—Riley struck at him, but I won't be sure whether he hit him or not—George then ran into the middle of the street, and turned round—Riley clinched him, and threw him down, and struck him four or five times in the face—Lowell then caught him by the collar and pulled him down—the Irishman then got Lowell by the hair and struck him three times.

Luther W. Nichols, a lad, also said he saw Lowell pursued into the street by Riley, but on the cross-examination explained that he was near-sighted, and that it was not until he had joined the group around the deceased, that he knew it to be him he saw run in to the street.

S. Caldwell saw Riley stab at Lowell two or three times with a knife, the blade of which was 3 or 4 inches long, but saw nothing but the stabbing.

John D. French and Jane French heard Riley say to Lowell—"D—n you, take that," and the join O'Neil on the sidewalk.

James Gould saw a scuffle at the head of Clinton street—saw Riley go on to the sidewalk, and heard O'Neil ask him "if he had given it to him." Saw Lowell then stoop down and pick up his cap, after which he stood up erect, and then fell on to his knees.

It is very evident, that neither of the preceding witnesses saw the commencement of the "difficulty with the Irishmen," as they termed it, though Wentworth might have seen the commencement of Lowell's participation in it. It would be unjust to Riley not to give publicity to all that bears in his favor, even if it be not testimony; and for this purpose we give the evidence of Mr. Rufus R. Cook before the Coroner's Inquest.—He was not called to the stand, though summoned, by the Government, because he was more properly a witness for the defence, and as it was deemed wholly useless to go into any defence, the homicide being so fully established, he did not testify in Court at all.

Mr. Cook dictated to us, as the substance of his testimony at the Inquest, the following:—

"As I was coming up Clinton street, two rods from Merchants' Row, I saw two men passing quick with baskets, and about six boys following them—I saw Lowell overtake them, and there was something like a short stop, and Riley turned round—Lowell then knocked him down—Riley then got up, and Lowell knocked him down again—by this time both were in the street, and they grappled—Lowell pulled Riley down to his knees, with his head under—by the way—I went to speak to Lowell to get him to let Riley alone—I perceived he staggered—he then stood up stiff three seconds, then fell, and uttered three groans."

O'Neil, on motion of B. H. Andrews, Esq., counsel for the defence, was discharged, and Riley was committed for trial before the Supreme Court, where O'Neil and Cook will become important witnesses for his defence. Besides their testimony, we understand there will be considerable evidence to show that gangs of boys and young men have been long in the habit of congregating around the corners of the streets adjacent to the market, for the purpose of following, jostling, assaulting, and otherwise abusing Irish people, as they pass on their way to and from the market, on Saturday evenings. It is even said that Lowell was one of their leaders.

For the Boston Morning Post.

Mr. Editor.—I would ask the Cyclops of the Courier and Daily why it is that their Fulcan in the U. S. Senate votes uniformly in the minority upon the late appointments. He has undoubtedly the welfare of the country much at heart; and it would perhaps be thought presumptuous to question his motives, and even be deemed impious to suppose him to be a headstrong partisan. He has been termed the God-like—"Un borné est un roi parmi les aveugles,"—but it must be acknowledged that he works in the lower regions. Poor fellow! the weight of the manacles he has been so industriously forging for others, will weigh him down to a level with the fool who fired the Ephesian dome."

Municipal.—At a meeting of the Mayor and Aldermen, on Monday—Resolved passed to widen Kneeland, Salem and Franklin streets—petitions of Primary School Committee, district No. 9, for a new primary school-house—of John Welles and others, to have the paving in Front continued southerly—of Hobart Spencer, to close North Market st. while building—of Nathaniel Clapp and others, to be set off from Dorchester and annexed to Boston, a piece of land called Little Neck, and the order of notice from the Legislature thereon, referred to Aldermen Gurney and Hunting, with such as the Common Council may join, to consider and report. Petition of Firemen, Ward No. 7, for the use of a room lately occupied by a primary school, referred. The committee on the Fire Department, with such as the Common Council may join, were instructed to procure a suitable lot of land, and put thereon a building suitable for a Hook and Ladder and Hose House, one or both as may be required. South Margin street ordered to be numbered.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

Tuesday, March 22.—In the Senate.—Mr. Whitmarsh presented the memorial of George Odiorne and others, praying the Legislature to request certain of the Southern States to repeal certain laws which operate to the injury of the citizens of Massachusetts. This memorial was laid upon the table, and ordered to be printed.

On motion of Mr. Allen, the order yesterday submitted by Mr. Fairbanks was taken up, and having been amended, was adopted.

The order as amended, provides that the Committee on the Judiciary be instructed to bring in a bill providing that any person committed to any jail in the Commonwealth on Execution for debt, shall be admitted to take the poor debtor's oath as was by law provided, as soon as three days shall have expired after notice given to the creditor or his attorney, as now provided by law, if said person be committed within the county of Suffolk; and any person committed to jail on execution for debt, in any other county in the Commonwealth, shall be admitted to take said oath immediately after six days from the time of notice given to the creditor or his attorney, agreeably to law as now provided.

In the House, numerous petitions were presented and referred.

Mr. Sargent, of Boston, presented the petition of the Suffolk India Rubber Company for additional powers—referred.

The following engrossed bills passed to be enacted—bills to incorporate the Berkshire Woollen Company—Blackstone Insurance Co.—the Charlestown Mutual Fire Ins Co.—Hingham Malleable Iron Co.—Hinsdale Manufacturing Co.—Holden Mill Co.—Marlboro' Mutual Fire Ins Co.—Mansfield Mining Co.—Newburyport Linnear Society—Newburyport Silk Co.—New England Worsted Co.—Northampton Silk Co.—Salem India Rubber Co.—Sunderland Steam Mill Co.—Sturbridge Cotton Mills—Boston Silk Manufacturing Co., and the Warren Iron and Steel Co.

The bill to establish the State Bank of Massachusetts was read a second time, discussed, but the question on passing it to a third reading, was not taken.

In the afternoon, the Ten Million Bank project was further debated, but no vote taken thereon. Mr. Williams, of Boston, supported the Bank, in a long speech, and Mr. Rantoul opposed it.

Yesterday afternoon, the bill to abolish Capital Punishment was amended, by striking out the sections relating to murder and arson, and passed to a third reading, 231 to 171.

The Bank Committee were authorized to employ the services of any of the law officers of the Commonwealth.

REVIEW OF THE BOSTON MARKET.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING TUESDAY, MARCH 22.

ASHES.—Steady sales. Potash is the trade without change in prices. There has been but a small supply of Potash in market, and they have advanced nearly 1.00 per 100 lbs.—sales are readily effected in small lots at $9.50.

CANDLES.—Sperm are in better demand, and sales have been extensive at 34 1/2 c per lb. 6 mos. Moulds sell slowly at 21 c.

BOSTON AND HARTFORD PACKETS
The Regular Line of Packets between the above cities, will consist of the following vessels:
Schooner ANN, Captain Flower,
CHINA, Captain Churchill,
LYDIA, Captain Hall,
MARY, Captain Hall,
ECHO, Captain Goodspeed.
These vessels are of the first class, and built expressly for the trade. The Captains have been long engaged in the business, and are experienced seamen. Every exertion will be made to ensure despatch and render this line worthy of patronage.
It is intended, after the 10th March, one vessel shall sail every Saturday, from the head of Central wharf, south side, and one from Hartford every Wednesday. For terms of freight apply to JOSHUA SEARS, No. 14 Long wharf, HARTFORD; ELLIS, No. 7 Central wharf, or the Captain, on board, head of Central wharf, south side, and in Hartford to THOMAS K. BRUCE & CO.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.
LETTERS PATENT have been granted to Charles Lane for important improvements in the construction of GRATES for burning ANTHRACITE COAL and WOOD, in open fire places, on a new principle. By the improvements in the LANE GRATE, combustion being supported by heated air, the most stubborn anthracite coal can be so thoroughly ignited that the surface of the fire presents the same glowing heat as is exhibited by the interior. In this Grate moisture and pure warm air, those important desir-ata, are obtained, whereby those old objections, the disturbance of furniture by shrinking, injury to house plants, and the difficulty experienced by some persons in breathing a dry atmosphere, heated by anthracite coal, are completely removed. This Grate, for cleanliness, for its fire-place, grate, or stove for burning any kind of fuel, and being got up in an elegant style, will supersede those of other descriptions now in use.
The undersigned having purchased the PATENT RIGHT for the United States, have made extensive preparations for the manufacture of the LANE PATENT GRATE, and will receive orders at 22 School street, for the same, and at 62 Congress street, (up stairs), where the public are invited to call and see one in operation.
The undersigned are now manufacturing a complete assortment of LANE'S PATENT GRATES, from 12 to 20 inch fire, suitable for Parlors, Chambers, Basements, and Kitchens.
For INSURANCE OFFICES and BANKING ROOMS, it will be found the most pleasant, as it is the most economical grate that can be used. The price of the Patent right will be $7 N. B.—Every infringer of the Patent right will be prosecuted to the extent of the law; and PURCHASERS are reminded that they are liable for damages for purchasing the LANE PATENT GRATE of any INFRINGER of the Patent Right, and will be dealt with accordingly.

PRICES REDUCED.—VEGETABLE EXTRACT.
This is the most valuable remedy yet discovered for the cure of Throat Distemper, or Malignant, Putrid, Ulcerate Throat, Scarlat Fever, Canker Rash, Canker in the Mouth, Throat and Bowels, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Sore Mouth of nursing women, and Acrid Humors of Teething Children; in short, for almost all the affections of the Mucous membrane of the mouth, throat and alimentary canal. These diseases are acknowledged by all physicians to be of the most severe and obstinate character, and have long baffled their skill and research.
The discovery therefore, of an effectual remedy for them, particularly for the various forms of Scarlat Fever, must be considered by every true philanthropist as an invaluable discovery.
As a common and perfectly safe family medicine, it will be found of inestimable value in cases of common sore throats and colds—disordered state of the stomach and bowels—such as habitual costiveness, indigestion, flatulency, nausea and vomiting. Also, in cases of weakness arising from fever and all debilitating diseases, such as consumption, &c.; it will be found very beneficial as a cathartic and alterative, as it neither causes difficulty, nor does it, as the case with the operation of most medicine, so readily dispose one to take cold.
The Vegetable Extract has now been some time before the public, and its great powers justly tested. Hundreds of individuals have successfully tried it, and several eminent physicians are in the almost daily use of it in their practice, and are truly astonished at its great curative qualities, and are ready to give their testimony in favor of its efficiency and power. There now remains but one obstacle in the way of its very general use, and that is, the price. The proprietors, being desirous to obviate this difficulty, have therefore determined to reduce the price to 25 cents per bottle, for one year, which barely remunerates for the great expense of preparing the extract; this will bring it within the means of every person, so that no one need suffer for the want of it; and the poor man will be able to obtain it for himself and family, as well as the rich.
N. B.—Should any one feel scrupulous of what is here stated, relative to the Vegetable Extract, and will call on one of the proprietors, No 118 State street, Boston, besides the other commendations which will accompany each bottle, other abundant and most satisfactory evidence will be exhibited respecting it.
For sale wholesale and retail by one of the Proprietors and General Agent, RALPH SMITH, 108 State street. Sold also by Maynard & Noyes, 13 & 15 Cornhill—William Brown, 431

BURNS AND SCALDS.
A POSITIVE CURE.
ANTI-PHLOGISTIC PASTE, for Burns and Scalds, Erysipelas and Phlegmonous Inflammation, St. Anthony's Fire, Erythema, Shingles, Stings and bites of Insects, Inflamed Blister, Vegetable parts, and Chapped Hands, &c.—
Fever Sores, (Necrosis), Blisters, Inflammation, Whitlow, &c.— Scarcely, Carbuncles, Gangrene, &c.; Sore Legs, Ulcers of every description, Scirrhous Tumors and Glands, Bruises and Sprains Furuncles, Contused and Lacerated Wounds—every grade of Gunshot Wounds. In a sure and rapid manner, and with a healthy action to the living parts, and can hardly conceive of a fracture or wound so bad as to cause death, or need amputation, if the Paste be timely and properly applied. All inflammations of a specific character, as Scrophulous Tumors, Glands, from any cause, and Abscesses—White Swellings, and Inflamed Joints Scrophulous Humors, and every other species of Eruptions, as Salt Rheum, Herpes, Scalded head, Ringworm, Pimpled Face and Blisters. It is a specific for the Piles, giving immediate relief. Local Syphilitic Inflammation it is sure to remove, and prevent suppuration in the worst cases.
In all the above diseases the Paste has but one action, which is the removal of heat, pain, swelling, and more or less of fever—when this is done, nature soon finishes the cure, or the wound parts become well simultaneously. It needs no certificates—use it, and you will know more of it than can be told you.

ADAMS'S PATENT SWELLED BEAM
THE subscriber has on hand a good assortment of the Swelled Beam Windmills, which, for comfort and convenience is undoubtedly the best article yet invented for the purpose of grinding grain. They are easily set up or taken down, and may be used in case of emergency as a other piece of furniture, and from its mode of construction less liable to harbor insects than any other kind; but above all its advantages is the ease and comfort obtained from the sacking, by means of its being made and kept elastic by means of the Swelled Beam, (the form of which is exhibited in the above cut).
Orders thankfully received, and promptly attended to CHARLES ADAMS, Patentee,
422 Washington st, a few doors south of Washington Bank.
C. A. has added a steam power to his manufactory which will enable him to give a full supply at a cheaper rate than heretofore.
